OVERVIEW

Bell Harbor International Conference Center (Bell Harbor) is Seattle's premier waterfront conference and event venue, with 18 meeting rooms totaling 100,000 square-feet and capacity for up to 6,000 guests. Popular meeting and event areas include the 300-seat Bay Auditorium, fashioned after the United Nations, and the Rooftop Plaza, which has views of Seattle's skyline, the Olympic Mountains and Mount Rainier. Bell Harbor also manages catering and events for World Trade Center Seattle, Maritime Event Center and Smith Cove Event Center at Pier 91. All are owned by the Port of Seattle and managed by Seattle-based Columbia Hospitality.

LOCATION

- The Bell Street Pier location is four blocks from Pike Place Market and the downtown Seattle core.
- Bell Harbor's neighbors include The Edgewater Hotel, Marriott Seattle Waterfront Hotel and Anthony's Pier 66 Restaurant.

KEY PERSONNEL

- Ashley Asher, Director of Sales
- Jay Bartleson, Executive Chef

DINING

Executive Chef Jay Bartleson and his culinary team select the freshest products and finest local and regional ingredients when preparing top-quality cuisine for guests. From Pacific Northwest produce and seafood including Dungeness crab, Alaskan king salmon and Penn Cove mussels to Washington wines, Bell Harbor guests can expect the best. Our culinary team is committed to seafood sustainability and proudly follows the guidelines of the Monterey Bay Aquarium Seafood Watch Program.

TECHNOLOGY

- Bell Harbor is one of the most technologically advanced conference centers on the West Coast. The onsite technology staff specialize in custom designing packages to include:
 - Complimentary high-speed Internet access throughout the facility with sufficient bandwidth for hundreds of heavy users and the ability to support thousands of clients with connections up to 100 Mbps
 - Built-in rear-projection systems with computer graphic capabilities
 - Videoconferencing
 - Electronic polling system
 - Touch-screen presentation control units
- Bell Harbor's Bay Auditorium is the only conference center in the United States that has six built-in simultaneous interpretation booths for multilanguage events and meetings.
- Bell Harbor is the first conference center on the West Coast to offer built-in rear-projection systems and computer graphic capabilities in all major conference rooms. The walls of the Bay Auditorium were built around the huge glass projection screen.

- The state-of-the-art and aesthetically pleasing new Nexo Line Array Sound System delivers pristine sound quality. Through sophisticated engineering this sound reinforcement system distributes sound evenly eliminating “dead zones” and keeps the volume even whether near or far from the speakers.

GREEN INITIATIVES

- In 2013, the International Association of Conference Centers (IACC) awarded Bell Harbor with Gold Tier status for the conference center’s fourth straight year of commitment to the IACC Code of Sustainability.
- Bell Harbor eliminates tons of food waste each day by donating leftover food to local food banks, maintaining a composting program and recycling kitchen grease into bio-fuel that is used to power Port of Seattle vehicles.
- All food and beverages are served using reusable flatware, dishes, napkins and cups and the conference center serves fair trade coffee and uses locally grown food whenever possible.
- Bell Harbor’s current recycling rate is 70 percent, well above the City of Seattle’s goal of 60 percent.
- In 2014 Bell Harbor was named runner up for the Best Washington Convention Center by Northwest Meetings + Events magazine.

CAPACITIES

- Bell Harbor features unique event spaces, such as the Harbor Dining Room (3,876 square-feet), the International Promenade (9,960 square-feet), Elliott Hall (12,000 square-feet), and spacious lobby areas and access to decks overlooking the waterfront.
- Outside spaces include the Rooftop Plaza (9,000 square-feet), Outdoor Terrace (4,000 square-feet) and Pier Apron (11,400 square-feet)
- Flexible spaces with high ceilings and abundant natural light, ample lobbies and gathering spaces, outdoor terraces and wrap-around decks perfect for receptions, galas, fundraising auctions or trade shows with space for up to 200 booths.
- Located on Seattle’s Magnolia waterfront, Smith Cove Event Center at Pier 91 has more than 145,000 square-feet of event space. The entire building provides a flexible venue for trade shows with its expansive floor plans and high vaulted ceilings.
